Women's Basketball Banquet

Season celebration features team, awards, and seniors.

It was the briefest of moments- a hint of confusion on the stage. The master of ceremonies, Pam Ward of ESPN fame, skipped right over an important part of the afternoon's agenda, when she announced that it was time for the video feature. Senior teammates exchanged glances, wondering if the already long program had been altered. Fortunately, for everyone in attendance, a quick whisper in Pam Ward's ear corrected the oversight. The seniors of course, would have their time and they came as a group to the microphone, graciously and with many thanks. Standing together, they passed the microphone down the line and each had their say. The seniors- Laura Harper, Crystal Langhorne, Jade Perry, Ashleigh Newman and Christie Marrone, comprise the winningest senior class in the history of Maryland Women's Basketball. During their tenure, they went to four straight NCAA Tournaments, advancing to the second round twice, the Elite Eight in 2008, and of course, the National Championship in 2006. They posted four straight, 20 win seasons and a four year record of 117-24 during their college career. Definitely, they had their say!

This year's banquet, held at the Samuel Riggs IV Alumni Center on the University of Maryland campus, also featured a silent auction, player introductions, presentation of awards, and a video finale that proved to be a real tear jerker.

In a presentation, not listed on the agenda, the Rebounders surprised Coach Brenda Frese, and her husband Mark Thomas, with two $1000 savings bonds, for sons Markus and Tyler, who were making their public debut. Funds for the bonds were donated by Rebounder members throughout the season.

Another long lasting Rebounder tradition included the display and presentation of senior scrapbooks. The four year volunteer commitment, culminates in the presentation of a one of a kind keepsake for seniors. Scrapbookers for the 2008 seniors class included: Doris Gossett, Ron McKee, Lew Zietz, Charles Sinlock, Helen Pickens and Shirley Mackessy. Thanks to all for your outstanding dedication to our student-athletes!

Many thanks to all who supported this great team during the 2007-2008 season!

Seniors Ashleigh Newman, Laura Harper, Crystal Langhorne, Jade Perry and Christie Marrone.
